

Radoš Keravica

Radoš Keravica is a disabled researcher from Serbia and a doctoral candidate at the University of Leeds, Centre for Disability Studies in the School of Sociology and Social Policy. He works as an EU Marie Skłodowska-Curie Early-Stage Researcher, within the Disability Advocacy Research in Europe (DARE) project. He holds a master's degree in human rights law from the Central European University.

His doctoral research project uses socio-legal analysis and focuses on disabled children's participation in healthcare decision-making in the context of impairment-related elective orthopedic treatments. It further explores the relationship between the UN Convention on the Rights of the Child (UNCRC) and the UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities (UNCRPD) in the area of child participation.

He serves as a Board Member of the European Network on Independent Living (ENIL) and worked previously for the UN OHCHR in Serbia as Disability Rights Specialist.
